

Dr. Gregory Schraw Student Fellowship Award

The idea of this award is to support graduate students to help them succeed on their scholarly journey. Dr. Schraw was unselfish when it came to what he would do for students. He would spend hours discussing a student's work. He would "steer" research projects in the direction of a student's interests. And he would willingly take a backseat to a student's work even though he was the primary force behind it.

In his honor, NRMERA established this fellowship award consisting of two monetary prizes awarded each year at the NRMERA Banquet. The recipients are chosen randomly from the applications received.

Please complete the following application if you are interested in this award.

Name:

Email:

Status and Affiliation:

(e.g., 2nd year graduate student at Utah State)

Are you presenting your research at the conference? Yes No

What are your goals and aspirations in seeking a higher degree? (Max. 100 words)

May we quote you at the Banquet? Yes No